

Welcome to Frieze London 2018

This year's fair brings together the world's leading galleries, showcasing today's most significant modern and contemporary artists, alongside the fair's celebrated programme of films, talks and performances.

Social Work & Focus

Alongside the main gallery section, explore our curated sections. New for this year, Social Work features women artists whose work emerged in response to the global social and political schisms of the 1980s and '90s. Paying homage to artists who challenged the status quo and explored the possibilities of political activism in their art-making, Social Work is devised by a panel of eminent art historians and critics. Focus returns as the definitive platform for emerging galleries.

Tours & Frieze Bespoke

Take a guided tour for an insider's look at the fair. Your guide will provide an introduction to the fair and a series of fascinating highlights. For a more personalised experience, and to help you start or grow your art collection, book a Frieze Bespoke tour of the fair. To book, visit the tours desk by the auditorium.

Projects

Overseen for the first time by curator Diana Campbell Betancourt, Frieze Projects encompasses artworks beyond the gallery booths, including Live, the Frieze Artist Award and Frieze Film.

Live

Live is a platform for interactive installations and performances presented by galleries. This year's programme is entitled "Control ~" ("Control Tilde") – a command on a computer keyboard that unlocks all formulas in a spreadsheet and thus makes them visible. Visitors will encounter works by international artists, all drawing attention to unexpected connections and hidden formulas which impact social, political and economic realities beyond the fair.

Frieze Artist Award

This year's award winner, Alex Baczynski-Jenkins' new commission continues his choreographic practice engaging with queer relationality and the politics of desire, intimacy and friendship. A neon sign outside the space will indicate when the performance is on.

Frieze Film

The 2018 Frieze Film programme will question systems that control and influence the dissemination of information. New commissions by the Otolith Group, Paul Pfeiffer and Lucy Raven will premiere at the fair – screening at 3pm daily – and be broadcast on national television. Frieze Film is supported by Channel 4's Random Acts.

Talks

Frieze Talks is co-curated for 2018 by Lydia Yee (Whitechapel Gallery) and Matthew McLean (Frieze). This year's programme explores the role played by autobiography in art and society, and features artists and writers including: Laurie Anderson, Sonia Boyce, Nan Goldin, Olivia Laing and Kemang Wa Lehulere. Talks are free, reserve your seat from 12pm at the auditorium.

BMW Open Work

Curated by Attilia Fattori Franchini, BMW Open Work brings together art, design and technology to create a new artistic project. On view in the BMW Lounge, the work of this year's selected artist, Sam Lewitt, focuses on motor engineering and technology. Imagining the whole car manufacturing cycle as an engine in itself, the project conceptually and physically explores the full production cycle of a BMW engine.

Publications

Your essential companion to the fairs, Frieze Week magazine includes full gallery listings and highlights of cultural events taking place across the city. frieze magazine is the leading publication for contemporary art and culture. Visit M12 in the Reading Room to enjoy special fair discounts.

Frieze Masters

Visit Frieze Masters to see art and antiquities spanning several thousand years of history – from ancient sculpture and Old Masters to modern and post-war art, as well as illuminated manuscripts, photography and wunderkammer.

Highlights include curated sections dedicated to rare collectable objects and pioneering 20th-century artists, as well as talks with leading artists and curators including Tacita Dean, Julie Mehretu, Doris Salcedo and more.

Frieze Masters is located on Gloucester Green, Regent's Park, approximately a 15-minute walk from Frieze London. Alternatively, enjoy our complimentary shuttle bus service running from sign-posted bus stops.

Frieze Sculpture

Discover exceptional outdoor works by leading artists from around the world. Presented by distinguished international galleries, these works are selected by curator Clare Lilley, Director of Programme, Yorkshire Sculpture Park. Frieze Sculpture has been open to the public since 4 July and will remain open until Sunday 7 October.

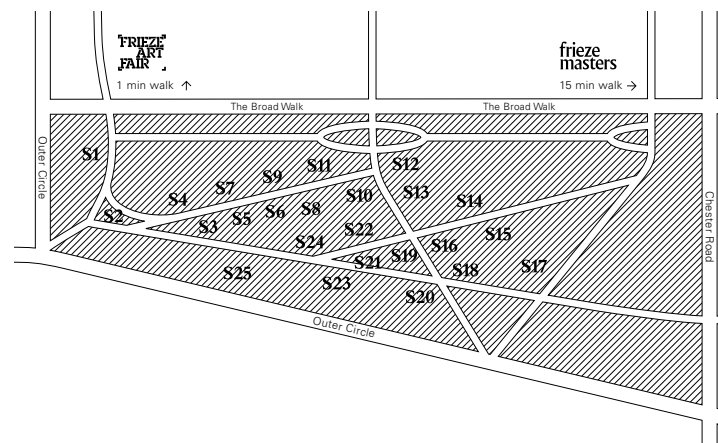

Scan this QR code on your mobile device to take a free audio tour through the park with curator Clare Lilley and learn more about all 25 works.

Charity Partner

This year, the beneficiary of our cloakroom donation is Children & the Arts, who believes that every child has the right to access great art. To achieve this, the charity works across the UK to reach children in communities and hospices who might otherwise miss out on vital creative and cultural opportunities.
